Account number ending in

Dear

We've recently learned that your old card might have been part of a data breach. So to help keep your account safe, be sure to use your new card with chip technology instead, which should have already arrived in the mail. Additionally, no Discover® card systems were involved in this incident.

If you haven't already, please activate your new card today:
Just call 1-800-DISCOVER (1-800-347-2683) or visit Discover.com/Activate

If you've already activated your new card, no further action is needed. You can use your new card with confidence knowing it has a new security code, expiration date and chip technology for added fraud protection at chip-enabled terminals.

As always, we're monitoring your account 24/7 and you're never responsible for unauthorized purchases on your Discover card. If you have any questions, call us at 1-800-347-0218 or visit Discover.com/Security.

Sincerely,

Discover Card Security

Regarding the Discover card account ending in: Cms-Last4D-Of-Acct

Dear Sys-Name,

We have been advised that your Discover card account information may have been compromised. This incident did not involve any Discover card systems, and there is no evidence that an unauthorized individual is using this account number. We are confident that it is not necessary to provide you with a new account number at this time, and you may continue to use your existing card.

Discover is committed to the security of your account, and we are proactively monitoring it for unusual activity. Remember, with our $0 Fraud Liability Guarantee, you're never responsible for unauthorized use of your card online, offline, anytime or anywhere. For additional peace of mind, you may wish to review transactions on your statements and monitor your account online at Discover.com. If you have questions about any transactions, please feel free to contact us.

If you still have concerns, you may obtain a copy of your credit report from the major credit reporting agencies (Equifax, Experian, Innovis and TransUnion). You are entitled to a free copy of your credit report from each of these agencies every 12 months and can order the reports by calling 1-877-322-8228 or contacting the agency directly. The credit reporting agencies can assist you if you find any inaccurate information and provide detail about fraud alerts and security freezes.
