Dear _____:

Huntington's Disease Society of America ("HDSA") is writing to inform you that on May 6, 2013, an incident occurred that may affect the security of your personal information.

On or about May 6, 2013, an unknown individual(s) gained unauthorized access to the webmail account of a Huntington's Disease Society of America employee. We reported this incident to the New York Police Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. HDSA commenced an internal investigation. We also have engaged third-party forensic experts and privacy and data security legal counsel to assist in the investigation of, and response to, this incident. Although these investigations are ongoing, it appears that the security of your [Social Security Number] [Driver's License Number] [bank account information] and name may have been compromised as a result of the incident.

We take this matter, and the security of your personal information, seriously. Although we have found no evidence of any actual or attempted misuse of your personal information, HDSA retained Experian to provide—at no cost to you—a membership for up to one (1) year to its ProtectMyID™ Alert identity monitoring and identity recovery services. To further protect against possible identity theft or other financial loss, we encourage you to remain vigilant, to review your account statements, and to monitor your credit reports for suspicious activity. Under U.S. law, you are entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also contact the three major credit bureaus directly to request a free copy of your credit report.

At no charge, you can also have these credit bureaus place a "fraud alert" on your file that alerts creditors to take additional steps to verify your identity prior to granting credit in your name. Note, however, that because it tells creditors to follow certain procedures to protect you, it may also delay your ability to obtain credit while the agency verifies your identity. As soon as one credit bureau confirms your fraud alert, the others are notified to place fraud alerts on your file. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, or should you have any questions regarding your credit report, please contact any one of the agencies listed below.
