Re: Public Records Request – Vermont Vapor

Dear Adam:

Attached please find records in response to your request dated February 7, 2017. We have withheld one email exchange between Toni Clithero and her immediate supervisor, John Dunleavy, pursuant to 1 V.S.A. § 317(c)(7) as it relates to personnel information. The withheld exchange does not describe the actions of Toni Clithero regarding Vermont Vapor. There are no other responsive communications between Toni Clithero and anyone at the Attorney General's Office involved in the Vermont Vapor matter.

If you feel records have been withheld in error, you may appeal to the Deputy Attorney General, Josh Diamond.

Thank you,

Subject: Update re Vermont Vapor

John suggested I let you know that I have received a call from Adam Federman of VT Digger, who wants to ask me questions about this matter. I told him that I wanted to check with the AGO for instructions. My inclination is not to discuss this as it is a personal matter and not work-related. Please let me know your thoughts. T

Subject: Re: Social Media (Facebook) Post Referencing Toni Clithero and e-Cigs

I opened a website a couple of years ago ($25 on GoDaddy.com) to get wholesale prices on ejuice from momandpopvaporshop.com. I never received nor processed one transaction through the website or the Facebook page, and when I received Andy Delaney's letter over a year ago, I placed a disclaimer on the website (clarifying that it was not associated with Andy's client's business) and let it lapse. The business has never been active. It has been lapsed (I no longer have the domain) since February of last year. Andy had offered me $25 to drop the website and that was the last I heard from him, also over a year ago. Of course, I don't know anything about an AGO demand letter. I have scheduled my FB page to be deleted in 14 days. T
