[RE: Line]

Dear Sample A. Sample:

Spouting Rock Asset Management, LLC (“Spouting Rock”) is writing to make you aware of an incident that may affect some of your personal information. We take this incident seriously and write to provide you with information about the incident, what we are doing in response, and the resources that we are making available to you to help protect your information, should you feel it is appropriate to do so.

What Happened? On or about May 17, 2022, Spouting Rock became aware of suspicious activity involving a single employee O365 account. We promptly took steps to secure the account and initiated an investigation, with the assistance of third-party specialists, to determine the nature and scope of the event, including any risk to data present within the account. That investigation determined that one Spouting Rock email account was subject to unauthorized access between May 5, 2022 and May 17, 2022. Because we could not rule out access to specific data within the mailbox, we took steps to identify what information was contained within the mailbox, and to whom that information related. We are providing this notice to you because we determined that your information was present in the impacted data during the period of unauthorized access.

What Information Was Involved? Our review of the involved systems determined that the impacted files included your [Data Elements] and name.

What We Are Doing. We take this incident and the security of information within our care seriously. Upon discovery of this incident, we began an in-depth investigation with the assistance of third-party specialists to determine the full nature and scope of this incident. As an added precaution, we arranged to have Experian provide credit monitoring services for 24 months at no cost to you. Instructions on how to enroll in these services are included with this letter. We will also notify relevant state regulatory authorities as required by law.

What You Can Do. We encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing your account statements and monitoring your free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors over the next 12 to 24 months. Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
