

Earth day by Devin [REDACTED]

Vermont was established on March 4th 1791. Vermont is known as the green mountain state. Vermont's state animal is the morgan horse, and the state flower is the red clover. Vermont's state capital is montpelier.

Did you know that Vermont has some of the cleanest air in the usa? Also , half of our land is polluted. Did you know that around the 1960s our water and land was very polluted. There was paper, plastic, and even worse oil and gasses. Now , Vermont's water is pretty clean so lets try to keep it that way.

So every time you use a plastic spoon fork or knife try to reuse it because one of your actions could save a lot of helpless animals and dirty land. Have you noticed that every year the plants have been growing slower and slower. That's a sign that the pollution is getting worse. According to britannica.com "A lot of environmental pollution can be caused by natural events such as forest fires, and active volcanoes. By the middle of the 20th century, an awareness of the need to protect air, water, and land environment from pollution had developed among the general public". Ocean pollution.

We can save the oceans lakes and ponds by removing unnecessary single use plastics from your daily habits . Even eliminating straws could go a long way towards reducing ocean debris .If every American sipped out of five fewer straws and plastic we could keep more than 1.5 billion landfills and our ocean. That's why most restaurants now have paper straws instead of plastic straws . In Vermont I love to go outside and see the beautiful trees and land in vermont. There's so much to do in Vermont for example hiking, skiing , swimming, biking and so much more. In the spring I Love to collect sap. And vermont is known for its maple syrup. Then in winter I love to ride my snowmobile all around the vast trails of vermont.