I like Vermont's environment because it is often considered the least air polluted state. It is also not just cold and not just hot it's very balanced hot and cold. In fall and spring it's between 40-60 degrees fahrenheit.but even though there are a lot of good things about vermont there are bad things. Even though it is considered the least polluted when it comes to air. That does not mean it's not there, there is still a lot of air pollution. Around 350 million animals are killed by traffic in Vermont every year; most of these tragic accidents are deer.

A lot of Vermont's animal deaths don't come from roadkill, it comes from hunting. Vermont has the best hunting session in the northeast. This can be very harmful to the environment vermont. Animal's play a huge role in Vermont's ecosystem. These animals deserve to live just as much as us.

Overall Vermont has a lot of good and bad things but it is very peaceful, calm and the scenery is beautiful and most people here are very nice. I love it here cause I love the community
