

EARTH DAY

By : Sophia [REDACTED]

For me earth day is an amazing day that happens once a year. According to National Geographic "Earth day is an annual celebration that honors the achievements of the environmental movement and raises awareness of the need to protect earth's natural resources for future generations."

So many people a year just pass by earth day and treat it like any other day. But it should be treated like any other day because on earth day some people may not have the time to go out and pick up trash on the side of the road but they should still treat our planet with respect because if we don't we could ruin our beautiful earth. So if we treat our earth with respect we will still have a beautiful home for years to come.

Lucky for our earth according to earthday.org "1 billion individuals mobilized for action every earth day and over 190 countries engaged in earth day a year." So thank god we have so many amazing people on our planet earth that care. It goes to show how when people get together we can make a difference.

Our plants and animals could be gone one day. We don't want to lose our plants and animals to die out because they mean a lot more to us than we think. For example, turtles are close to dying out because of trash in our waters. We only have so much time on earth so I think that we should use it wisely. We need to make a difference and help our earth.

We need to see how hurt our earth is and help because we want this earth to live for as long as we can. We have the power to make a change for future generations. In conclusion, the earth can stay healthy, we just need to let it.
