RE: Important Security Notification. Please read this entire letter.

Dear <<Name1>>:

We are writing to tell you about a security incident that may have exposed some of your personal information that we have in our possession as a result of communications or transactions involving our company, Permian Resources.

Although we have no confirmation that your information was actually accessed or used by the unauthorized actor involved in the incident, we take the protection and proper use of your information very seriously. For this reason, we are contacting you directly to explain the circumstances of this incident and to inform you of actions you may take to protect yourself.

What Happened.

On or about December 8, 2023 and December 11, 2023, Permian Resources determined that through a series of phishing emails, an unknown third-party gained unauthorized access for a limited period of time to a small number of employee email accounts. Permian Resources immediately activated its incident response team to secure the affected accounts and contain the incident.

What We Are Doing.

In conjunction with the security and containment steps above, Permian Resources took immediate steps to conduct a legal and technical investigation of the incident, including engagements with leading forensic and data analytics firms. Additionally, Permian Resources sent timely alert communications to its employees and provided additional training to Permian Resources employees impacted by the phishing attack in this incident. The investigation noted above has now concluded, and we have no confirmation that your information was actually accessed, acquired, or used for any unauthorized purpose. However, the investigation could not rule out the possibility of a potential impact.

What Information Was Involved.

As a result of the thorough forensic investigation and extensive data review noted above, we identified that some files on the impacted systems contained certain individual personal information. The information that may have been exposed could have included your name, address, <<Breached ELEMENTS>>. Again, we have no confirmation that your information was actually accessed or used by the unauthorized actor involved in the incident.

What You Can Do.

In response to the incident, we are providing you with access to Single Bureau Credit Monitoring/Single Bureau Credit Report/Single Bureau Credit Score services at no charge. These services provide you with alerts for 12 Months from the date of enrollment when changes occur to your credit file. This notification is sent to you the same day that the change or update takes place with the bureau. These services will be provided by Cyberscout through Identity Force, a TransUnion company specializing in fraud assistance and remediation services.

How do I enroll for the free services?

To enroll in Credit Monitoring services at no charge, please log on to <https://secure.identityforce.com/benefit/permianresources> and follow the instructions provided. When prompted please provide the following unique code to receive services: <<activation code>>.

In order for you to receive the monitoring services described above, you must enroll within 90 days from the date of this letter. The enrollment requires an internet connection and e-mail account and may not be available to minors under the age of 18 years of age. Please note that when signing up for monitoring services, you may be asked to verify personal information for your own protection to confirm your identity.

For More Information.

If you have any questions regarding this incident, please contact 888-988-0343 from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, Eastern Time. Protecting your information is paramount to us and we hope that the services we are offering to you demonstrate our commitment in this regard.

Sincerely,

Permian Resources Group

Additional Information and U.S. State Notification Requirements

There are a number of steps you should consider to guard against identity theft.

Review Your Account Statements and Credit Report: It is recommended that you remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by regularly reviewing your account statements and monitoring your credit reports. Report any fraudulent transactions to the creditor or credit reporting agency from whom you received the statement or report. You may obtain a free copy of your credit report from each credit reporting agency once every 12 months, whether or not you suspect any unauthorized activity on your account, by visiting <https://www.annualcreditreport.com>, calling toll-free 877-322-8228, or by completing an Annual Credit Report Request Form available at that website and mailing it to: Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. You may also purchase a copy of your credit report at any time by contacting any one or more of the national credit reporting agencies listed below.

Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and State Resources: General guidance on protecting yourself from identify theft is available from the Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Ave. NW, Washington D.C. 20580, by phone at 877-ID-THEFT (438-4338), and/or from the FTC website at <http://www.ftc.gov/bcp/edu/microsites/idtheft>. In many states, additional information is also available from your state's Attorney General's Office.

Fraud Alerts and Security Freezes: You may obtain information about fraud alerts and security freezes (also referred to as credit freezes), including how to place a fraud alert or security freeze, from the Federal Trade Commission or credit reporting agencies at the contact information provided above. However, be aware that a fraud alert or security freeze may require fees to be paid, may interfere with or delay legitimate requests for credit approval. You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information in order to place a security freeze on your credit.

Additional Information: You may further educate yourself regarding identity theft, fraud alerts, credit freezes, and the steps you can take to protect your personal information by contacting the consumer reporting bureaus, the Federal Trade Commission, or your state Attorney General. The Federal Trade Commission may be reached at: 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580; www.identitytheft.gov; 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338); and TTY: 1-866-653-4261. The Federal Trade Commission also encourages those who discover that their information has been misused to file a complaint with them. You can obtain further information on how to file such a complaint by way of the contact information listed above. You have the right to file a police report if you ever experience identity theft or fraud. Please note that in order to file a report with law enforcement for identity theft, you will likely need to provide some proof that you have been a victim. Instances of known or suspected identity theft should also be reported to law enforcement and your state Attorney General. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.

D.C.: You have the right to place a fraud alert or security freeze. For more information on how to place a fraud alert or security freeze, you can contact the Federal Trade Commission or any of the consumer reporting bureaus as described above. You can also contact the D.C. Attorney General at (202) 442-9828 or consumer.protection@dc.gov.

Iowa: You should report suspected incidents of identity theft to your local law enforcement or the Iowa Attorney General.

Maryland: For more information on steps you can take to prevent identity theft, you can contact the Federal Trade Commission or any of the consumer reporting bureaus as described above. You can also contact the Maryland Attorney General at 1-888-743-0023, Office of the Attorney General, 200 St. Paul Place, Baltimore, MD 21202, and <https://www.marylandattorneygeneral.gov>.

Massachusetts: State law advises you that you have the right to obtain a police report. You also will not be charged for seeking a security freeze, as described above in this document.

New Mexico: You have the right to place a fraud alert or security freeze. For more information on how to place a fraud alert or security freeze, you can contact the Federal Trade Commission or any of the consumer reporting bureaus as described above. You should review your personal account statements and credit reports, as applicable, to detect any errors that may or may not be a result of a security incident.

New York: The New York Attorney General may be contacted at: Office of the Attorney General, The Capitol, Albany, NY 12224-0341; 1-800-771-7755; or <https://ag.ny.gov/>.
