Dear Sample:

Kent State University takes the privacy and security of your information seriously. We are writing to inform you about an incident that recently came to our attention and to provide you with information regarding the incident and the steps we have taken to address this matter.

Keffer Development Services, LLC (“Keffer”) is a vendor that created and maintains Athletic Trainer Services (ATS), a service used by Kent State University Athletics to track training and injury status among student-athletes. Keffer discovered an incident that may affect the security of your personal information.

What Happened?

Kent State University is a customer of Keffer and uses ATS for the treatment management of Kent State University’s athletes. Keffer indicated that an account with administrative access for ATS was used by an unauthorized party and may have accessed Kent State University information stored in ATS. Around December 14, 2023, Keffer provided Kent State University with sufficient information to ascertain which of Kent State University’s students’ information may have been involved in this incident. Keffer informed us that ATS was targeted by a bad actor who gained access by using a brute-force hacking method.

What Information Was Involved?

The information at risk includes, but may not be limited to, the following personal details:

- Name
- Date of birth
- Athletic treatment history
- COVID-19 status, including vaccinations
- [SSN Mail Merge]

What Are We Doing?

At no time did this incident affect Kent State University’s own systems, software, or networks, and none of Kent State University’s other data was involved. We take the privacy and security of your information seriously and trust that our service providers, vendors, and business partners, also take steps to protect your information.

Kent State immediately convened an incident response team that included cybersecurity professionals to help us fully understand what happened, the population involved, and the data at stake. To best protect against future incidents, Kent State is now requiring additional security controls and protocols from Keffer, and Kent State employees who use this program have reset their passwords, following more stringent complexity requirements. Keffer has informed us that they will also be implementing additional account security controls in the near future. Additionally, Keffer informed us that law enforcement has been working to identify the bad actor and hold them accountable.

To help protect your identity, we are offering complimentary access to Experian IdentityWorksSM for ## months.

Recommended Steps to Help Protect Your Information

1. Review your credit reports. We recommend that you remain vigilant by reviewing account statements and monitoring credit reports. Under federal law, you also are entitled every 12 months to one free copy of your credit report from each of the three major credit reporting companies. To obtain a free annual credit report, go to www.annualcreditreport.com or call 1-877-322-8228. You may wish to stagger your requests so that you receive a free report by one of the three credit bureaus every four months.

You should also know that you have the right to file a police report if you ever experience identity fraud. Please note that in order to file a crime report or incident report with law enforcement for identity theft, you will likely need to provide some kind of proof that you have been a victim. A police report is often required to dispute fraudulent items. You can report suspected incidents of identity theft to local law enforcement or to the Attorney General.

2. Place Fraud Alerts with the three credit bureaus. If you choose to place a fraud alert, we recommend you do this after activating your credit monitoring. You can place a fraud alert at one of the three major credit bureaus by phone and also via Experian's or Equifax's website. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you, before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you, but also may delay you when you seek to obtain credit. The contact information for all three bureaus is as follows:

Credit Bureaus

Equifax Fraud Reporting
1-866-349-5191
P.O. Box 105069
Atlanta, GA 30348-5069
www.equifax.com

Experian Fraud Reporting
1-888-397-3742
P.O. Box 9554
Allen, TX 75013
www.experian.com

TransUnion Fraud Reporting
1-800-680-7289
P.O. Box 2000
Chester, PA 19022-2000
www.transunion.com

It is necessary to contact only ONE of these bureaus and use only ONE of these methods. As soon as one of the three bureaus confirms your fraud alert, the others are notified to place alerts on their records as well. You will receive confirmation letters in the mail and will then be able to order all three credit reports, free of charge, for your review. An initial fraud alert will last for one year.

Please Note: No one is allowed to place a fraud alert on your credit report except you.

3. Security Freeze. By placing a security freeze, someone who fraudulently acquires your personal identifying information will not be able to use that information to open new accounts or borrow money in your name. You will need to contact the three national credit reporting bureaus listed above to place the freeze. Keep in mind that when you place the freeze, you will not be able to borrow money, obtain instant credit, or get a new credit card until you temporarily lift or permanently remove the freeze. There is no cost to freeze or unfreeze your credit files.

4. You can obtain additional information about the steps you can take to avoid identity theft from the following agencies. The Federal Trade Commission also encourages those who discover that their information has been misused to file a complaint with them.

California Residents: Visit the California Office of Privacy Protection (www.oag.ca.gov/privacy) for additional information on protection against identity theft. Office of the Attorney General of California, 1300 I Street, Sacramento, CA 95814, Telephone: 1-800-952-5225.
