Notice of [Variable Text 1]

Dear Sample A. Sample:

Legacy Capital Advisors LLC (“Legacy” or “We”) writes to notify you of an incident that may affect the privacy of some of your information. This letter provides details of the incident, our response, and steps you may take to better protect against possible misuse of your information should you feel it appropriate to do so.

What Happened? On September 25, 2023, Legacy discovered suspicious activity related to an employee’s email account. In response, we immediately took steps to secure the affected account and initiated an investigation into the nature and scope of the event with the assistance of third-party forensic specialists. The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor gained access to several employee email accounts beginning in late July 2023, and subsequently had access to the data contained therein. Therefore, Legacy conducted a comprehensive review of the contents of the accounts to identify the type of information present and to whom the information relates. On March 20, 2024, we completed this extensive review and identified that information pertaining to certain individuals was present in the affected accounts, we then worked to locate accurate address information for the impacted individuals.

What Information Was Involved? The following information related to you was contained in one of the impacted accounts: [variable text 2]. Although our investigation was unable to confirm whether your information was actually viewed by the unauthorized actor, we are unable to rule out the possibility.

What We Are Doing. The confidentiality, privacy, and security of information is among our highest priorities. ## Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
