

Vermont has a lot of nature and is also known for its Vermont cheddar cheese. Vermont is known for its maple syrup, most famous for putting on breakfast foods like pancakes and waffles. But did you know that here in Vermont we put maple syrup on snow? Finally, Vermont became the 14th state in 1791. It's an important state because of our amazing environment and outdoors.

Now don't get me wrong, Vermont is very pretty! But since there is almost always trash on the streets, sidewalks, even at stores... it's not as pretty as it could be. Not a lot of people seem to care about the trash but some do. An example of this is the people (I think they're called waste collectors something like that) who go around the city picking up trash. We need more people like that in the world.

Like a lot of people, I LOVE roller coasters and amusement parks in general! When it comes down to how long I'd ride in a car to get to one it really depends. Like are you willing to drive three hours to be able to get to an amusement park? Your answer is probably no, but honestly I would. Here's a question: Would you rather have beautiful trees or two big amusement parks? I am happy that Vermont does not have amusement parks because we're able to still have so many trees to look at. I honestly think it really depends on the type of person you are. For example if you're from Arizona, first of all...WHY'D YOU EVEN THINK ABOUT MOVING HERE?? Just kidding. Second, you may not really want so many trees so you may want the amusement park choice. But here in Vermont we love our trees.

Anyway, one of the reasons why some people probably live in Vermont is for its really nice summers. Last year I went hiking with family and friends and it was fun. One of the worst parts about summer in Vermont, though is that it can get humid. There's a lot of ice cream places in Vermont so that's a plus during the summer. Also Vermont is one of the least states to get hurricanes and tornadoes so that's pretty cool! Some other things about Vermont is that in the winter there are a lot of things to do Like skiing, sledding etc. But it does get really cold in here. That's not always fun, but I can deal with it since we have so many great things about the environment in our state. As you can see there are many different ways to enjoy Vermont but it's different for everyone.
