Ocean plastics

Ahhh taking a nice warm shower after a long day, without water we could not do that, but without water we would have much larger problems than that. Water is important for cooking, drinking and eating. We also need water to shower, Bath ect. One major problem with out water is illegal trash dumping in or near the ocean. Even though lots of people litter and dump trash there are still ways to help.

This is a big problem because dumping large loads of trash not in a dump is really bad for the ocean. It is illegal and can cost money and jail time. Another problem that causes ocean plastics is beach visitors not disposing of their rappers properly and leaving them on the beach.

One way we could help with this problem is we could make the fine for trash dumping higher. It is currently $100-$25,000 i think it should be $300-$25,000.

This would help because people would be less likely to dump trash illegally if there was a larger consequence.

We could also lower the price to dump trash at a dump because people would be more likely to go there.

This would help because one reason people don't go to a dump is the cost.

One last solution is having more dumps because some people probably don't want to drive far to get to a dump

This would help a lot of people because they don't want to drive a long time to get to a dump.

The largest problem with ocean plastics is illegal trash dumping.

It is important to do something because if we dont we won't have water and we wouldn't be able to survive.
