“swoosh” went Billy through the ocean you could see the sun reflecting off of his orange and white stripes. Billy had a pretty nice personality. And Billy is really gullible. Zoom! Billy glides through the water trying not to get tagged. Few Billy's stomach starts to rumble. I'm really hungry. Billy says. Do you want to get some food? Billy's mom exclaims. Sure stay here, I'm going home to grab my wallet. Billy waits for his mom and waits and waits until swoosh. The rushing current takes Billy away. Now Billy doesn't know where to go. He has never been this far out before. Mom where are you!? Billy's stomach rumbles again. I need food.

Billy goes on a journey to find food. Pacifically small Crustaceans. If I don't eat now i'm gonna freak out. Billy's stomach rumbles even louder. And right when Billy thinks he found food he quickly realizes it's just another fish. Billy had been searching for hours and yet found nothing. Billy's eyes started getting real heavy, and eventually he passed out. Once Billy had awakened he immediately started searching for food. Now Billy has a big grin on his face. Billy remembered where food is. Yes I found food! Billy swims as fast as a bullet to the crustaceans. NOM NOM NOM. Oww my stomach still hurts, maybe I need some rest. Billy wakes up to his aching stomach rumbling. Billy looks down at the ocean floor and inches closer and closer to see if the crustaceans were actually crustaceans. Billy remembers stories about stuff called plastic. And that you should never eat it. Now Billy realizes why his stomach hurts even more than it did before. Billy now needs help to get the plastic out and get him some or he might hit the hay.

Billy didn't stop searching for food. Food! Food! Real food! Billy's stomach doesn't hurt as much and starts to feel better now he just needs to get that plastic out. The water starts to move and so Billy starts to panic. But the boat suddenly comes to a stop. So Billy swims as fast as a bullet. Billy tries to swim away from the people but it's no use. Dont hurt me! Then the men Billy saw were caught Billy and brought Billy to their secret lair or so Billy thought. Once Billy was on the deck the men were helping Billy by getting the plastic out. 5 minutes later. Billy wakes up and he's in the water. He feels so much better.
