WE NEEDED TO TALK!!!

Some environmental changes I've noticed when I go snowboarding is that people throw trash off the lift line. That bothers me because when the snow melts the trash goes on to the ground. Then all of the trash from the winter that melted onto the ground starts to pile up. Then when the snow comes, it covers up the trash and it all happens again and again.

One summer, someone is going to see it and post it on Facebook and then our mountains are going to have a bad reputation. People are going to lose jobs, people are going to stop coming to ski and snowboard.

This could be prevented by having a recycling and trash bin at the top and bottom of the lift. Every summer people should clean up the trash and/or the cans that people were too ignorant to put in the trash.

I hope that when I go snowboarding it will be clean and I can tell that people really care about our mountains.
