Earth Day

Earth day starts every day on April 22nd. It is a day for people to be aware of the earth and make it so me and my friends can continue to enjoy nature.

Animals deserve to have freedom and live a good life. Poaching does not help the animals, poaching should stop that is why animals are going extinct. It's important to keep the earth clean. People sometimes throw trash out their car window and that hurts the animals. In the 1500-1600 the Europeans trapped animals for fur because they wanted money. That is why the animals went extinct. Some of the animals' names are...beavers, buffalo, wolves, lynx and eagles.

Pollution also hurts rivers, ponds, and lakes. Pollution hurts the animals such as fish, turtles, frogs, salamanders, ducks, and fish. I love to fish so I hope some fish don't go extinct. Owls get killed every year because people throw trash on the side of the road, rodents go and eat the trash and owls try to eat rodents. That's why owls get hit by cars.

Do you like to hunt? Well I do, I like to hunt deer, bear, partridge and rabbit, because I put food on the table and have fun in the outdoors. It is good to hunt so the population does not go over, say people did not hunt for a long time. The animals that we hunt would overpopulate. I hunt for fun so you should try it. Did you know that there are approximately 133,000 deer in Vermont. If it overpopulates there won't be enough food or water. s to clean the earth and environment. This is important to me because I enjoy hunting, fishing, camping, hiking, and swimming. Having a clean environment to do this with my friends. All of us in this world should get better at cleaning the earth.
