NOTICE OF DATA BREACH

Dear <<First Name>> <<Last Name>>,

We are writing to inform you of a security incident which may have involved some of your personal information. We take the privacy and security of your personal information seriously and for this reason want you to understand what we are doing to address this issue and what steps you can take to protect yourself.

What Happened

On September 28, 2018, we received information about possible unauthorized modifications to our online ordering website. We began investigating and hired a leading computer security and forensics firm to assist with the investigation. We identified that an unauthorized user modified our online ordering website to collect certain customer information without authorization. We removed the unauthorized modification, took further measures to secure our online ordering website, and reported the incident to payment card networks. On November 26, 2018, the investigation determined what information was collected and the time period that the unauthorized modification affected our online ordering website.

What Information Was Involved

The information that may have been collected included customers' order information—specifically, first and last name, billing address, email address, telephone number, credit card number, expiration date, and card security code (CVV2). The information would have been collected for any orders placed on our online ordering website between July 13, 2018, and October 2, 2018. We are notifying you because you placed one or more orders during this period and your information may have been collected, including your payment card used to place the order(s).

What We Are Doing

When we first learned of this activity on September 28, 2018, we launched an internal investigation. We also hired a computer security and forensics firm to conduct a forensics investigation of our website. On October 2, 2018, we removed the unauthorized modification. We have also taken steps to further restrict and monitor access to our online ordering website and enhanced our online ordering website security procedures.

What You Can Do

We encourage you to remain vigilant in monitoring your account statements and transactions for incidents of fraud and identity theft, and to promptly report such incidents. You should immediately report any such charges to the financial institution that issued your payment card. Generally, cardholders are not responsible for unauthorized charges that are reported in a timely manner. You may reach your financial institution via the phone number on the back of your payment card.

If your payment card used to place an order during this time period has already been cancelled or replaced, you should review your prior statements for any unauthorized activity. The enclosed Reference Guide includes additional information on general steps you can take to monitor and protect your personal information.

For More Information

If you have questions regarding this incident, please contact [INSERT APPROPRIATE PERSON AND INFORMATION].

Sincerely,

John Teeter
Senior Vice President

Order Your Free Credit Report

To order your free annual credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com, call toll-free at (877) 322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the U.S. Federal Trade Commission's ("FTC") website at www.ftc.gov and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. The three credit bureaus provide free annual credit reports only through the website, toll-free number or request form.

Upon receiving your credit report, review it carefully. Errors may be a warning sign of possible identity theft. Here are a few tips of what to look for:

- Look for accounts you did not open.
- Look in the "inquiries" section for names of creditors from whom you have not requested credit. Some companies bill under names other than their store or commercial names; the credit bureau will be able to tell if this is the case.
- Look in the "personal information" section for any inaccuracies in information (such as home address and Social Security Number).

If you see anything you do not understand, call the credit bureau at the telephone number on the report. You should notify the credit bureaus of any inaccuracies in your report, whether due to error or fraud, as soon as possible so the information can be investigated and, if found to be in error, corrected. If there are accounts or charges you did not authorize, immediately notify the appropriate credit bureau by telephone and in writing. Information that cannot be explained should also be reported to your local police or sheriff's office because it may signal criminal activity.

Contact the U.S. Federal Trade Commission

If you detect any unauthorized transactions in any of your financial accounts, promptly notify the appropriate payment card company or financial institution. If you detect any incidence of identity theft or fraud, promptly report the matter to your local law enforcement authorities, state Attorney General and the FTC.

You can contact the FTC to learn more about how to protect yourself from becoming a victim of identity theft by using the contact information below:

Place a Fraud Alert on Your Credit File

To protect yourself from possible identity theft, consider placing a fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert helps protect against the possibility of an identity thief opening new credit accounts in your name. When a credit grantor checks the credit history of someone applying for credit, the credit grantor gets a notice that the applicant may be the victim of identity theft. The alert notifies the credit grantor to take steps to verify the identity of the applicant. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by calling any one of the toll-free fraud numbers provided below. You will reach an automated telephone system that allows flagging of your file with a fraud alert at all three credit bureaus.

Security Freezes

You have the right to put a security freeze, also known as a credit freeze, on your credit file, so that no new credit can be opened in your name without the use of a PIN number that is issued to you when you initiate a freeze. A security freeze is designed to prevent potential credit grantors from accessing your credit report without your consent. If you place a security freeze, potential creditors and other third parties will not be able to get access to your credit report unless you temporarily lift the freeze. Therefore, using a security freeze may delay your ability to obtain credit.

As of September 21, 2018, you have the right to request a credit freeze from a consumer reporting agency, free of charge. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit bureau. To place a security freeze on your credit report you must contact the credit reporting agency by phone, mail, or secure electronic means and provide proper identification of your identity. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze (note that if you are requesting a credit report for your spouse, this information must be provided for him/her as well): (1) full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past five years; and (5) any applicable incident report or complaint with a law enforcement agency or the Registry of Motor Vehicles. The request must also include a copy of a government-issued identification card and a copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement. It is essential that each copy be legible, display your name and current mailing address, and the date of issue.

Below, please find relevant contact information for the three consumer reporting agencies:

Once you have submitted your request, the credit reporting agency must place the security freeze no later than 1 business day after receiving a request by phone or secure electronic means, and no later than 3 business days after receiving a request by mail. No later than five business days after placing the security freeze, the credit reporting agency will send you confirmation and information on how you can remove the freeze in the future.
