It seems like the Vermont Attorney General is just having his staff flat out lie on his behalf.

I called the Vermont State Archives and Records Administration. Staff there have no idea what the Vermont Attorney General is claiming re: the State Archives being custodian of the Vermont Attorney General's nursing licensure records, or (possibly) now being the regulatory authority over pre 2003 licenses.

Please explain what the Vermont Attorney General is talking about, and if this nonsense is supposed to be what he does in his official capacity.

Thanks,

David Shaddy, RN
