Charity,

It took surprisingly little time or effort to research the duties and jurisdiction of ever single other United States state Attorneys General, as well as the Federal Attorney General, to find that the Vermont Attorney General is unique in what he is claiming he doesn't investigate or enforce.

So far, I have received both that would indicate the Vermont law limits or prohibits the Vermont Attorney General from his duties of office as understood by any other holder of the same or comparable public office in every other state and the federal government.

Please provide me with any public records requests regarding the basis for the Vermont Attorney General's repeated objections to performing the investigation and enforcement duties he has thus far refused to provide to the people of the state of Vermont.

Thank you ,

David Shaddy, RN
