Re: Notice of Data <<Extra 1>>

Dear <<Name 1>>:

The American College of Emergency Physicians (“ACEP”) writes to notify you of an event that may affect some of your information. ACEP has your information and is notifying you because it not only provides professional organization services to its own members, but also provides management services to other similar professional organizations in the industry, including the Emergency Medicine Foundation (“EMF”), the Emergency Medicine Residents’ Association (“EMRA”) and the Society for Emergency Medicine Physician Assistants (“SEMPA”). You are receiving this notice because you are (or were) a member of, made a purchase from, or donated to, one or more of these entities.

While ACEP has no indication your information has been misused, ACEP takes this event very seriously and is sharing details about the event, our response, and steps you can take to better protect your information, should you feel it appropriate to do so.

What Happened? On September 7, 2020, ACEP discovered unusual activity on its systems. Upon discovery, we commenced an investigation to determine the full scope of the activity. During the course of the investigation, it was determined that credentials to ACEP’s separate SQL database servers were stored on a server that was compromised by an unauthorized actor. While there is no evidence the SQL servers were subject to unauthorized access or acquisition, because it cannot be ruled out, ACEP notified its partners in an abundance of caution and is providing this notice to you. The information was at risk between the dates of April 8, 2020 and September 21, 2020.

What Information Was Involved? A review of our SQL database servers indicated that your name, <<Notice Data Elements>> were stored on an ACEP SQL server at the time of the incident. Again, we have not determined that your information was viewed or taken but are providing this notice out of an abundance of caution because the information was accessible during the time of the incident.

What ACEP is Doing. ACEP takes the security of member and customer information seriously. Upon notice of the potential for unauthorized activity, we commenced an investigation, rebuilt the impacted server, changed passwords, and implemented additional technical safeguards.

ACEP has also secured the services of Epiq to provide you with credit monitoring and identity restoration services for twelve (12) months, at no cost to you. More information on how to take advantage of these services can be found in the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Protect Personal Information.

What You Can Do. We encourage you to remain vigilant for instances of fraud or misuse of your information from any source and to review the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Protect Personal Information for the resources you can take advantage of to better protect your information, should you feel it appropriate to do so. If your impacted information includes an email or online username, password, and/or security question and answer, you should promptly change your password/security question and answer, as well as any password/security question and answer that is the same or similar for other accounts.

For More Information. If you have additional questions that are not addressed in this letter, please call our toll-free assistance hotline at 877-792-0488, available between Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m., Central Time.

We sincerely regret any inconvenience this event may cause you and we remain committed to safeguarding the information within our care.

Sincerely,

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, military identification, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a fraud alert or credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
