If we don't have water, we would not exist. Why water is awesome and important is because we need it to survive and for the animals to survive. Also it is awesome to have because it is fun to play in and we need it to clean ourselves. One major problem that the hydrosphere is facing is toxic chemicals in our drinking water. This is a huge problem and there are many ways to solve this problem.

Polluted water in the world is a big problem. One reason why it is a big problem is because it is causing kids under the age of 5 to have the deadly diarrhea bug that sometimes will even kill kids. To add on, 1.5 billion kids get the bug every year.

Another reason why Unsafe drinking water is a big problem is because it can poison people. To elaborate on this, one of the main things that cause this is lead. It is very harmful to the human body.

The final reason why it is a big problem is because people have to walk miles to get fresh water because the water at their house is polluted. To elaborate on this, lead is the main problem why people have to walk miles for fresh water.

There are many unsafe drinking water problems in this world, but with many problems there are many solutions!

One solution could be to get a well if you don't have a clean water source. A good reason why people should do this is because well water is well water. It is clean water that is underground . But you should boil it first.

Another solution could be to make or get a filter that can go in your pipes that can filter out the bacteria in the water and just give you clean water. A good reason why this is a good idea is because you won't have to walk for miles, you can get the water right from home!

The last solution could be to fix old water pipes in your house. This may not be the case for all people but if it is it would be a good reason because the old pipes could have rust and bacteria on it and that is not good for your drinking water.

Polluted water in the world is a huge problem on earth. It is important to take action because if we don't so much more people and animals would die. Using a well is a good 1st step to solve the problem. This would help get good water to the people. Well water is well water!
