

By ben

Climate change

One thing I don't get is climate change. People burn fossil fuels just for energy. I know it's stupid. They even cut down forests for energy that is too far. And the worst of all it adds a lot of greenhouse gasses to the atmosphere.

Like please stop, we need the arctic. All the greenhouse gasses cause global warming. If you want to run out of oxygen then keep cutting down trees. I was joking, don't do that. It will cause warming oceans and that can directly hurt animales.

Climate change causes rising sea levels, shrinking mountain glaciers, ice melting faster than usual in greenland, antarctica, and the arctic. If we keep this up by 2050 the temp will rise by 1.5 celsius, that's a lot.

Things you can do to help. Plant a tree, shop wisely, bike or walk or skate and maybe use solar panels. There are 8 other things you can do but if i wrote all those my hand would cramp and it would hurt really bad.

Don't forget to help the earth by using less energy so people burn less fossil fuels and use longer lasting light bulbs.

I got these facts from google.